

Review of Agricultural Diversity in Southern Colonies

BibleMouse.com

Understanding Rice, Indigo, and Cotton

Name: _____

Date: _____

Answer the following questions based on what you learned about the crops in the Southern Colonies.

1. What is one major crop grown in the Southern Colonies?

- A. Wheat
- B. Rice
- C. Barley

2. How does geography influence agricultural production in the Southern Colonies?

3. Indigo is used to create a ___ dye for textiles.

4. Cotton grows best in wet, marshy areas.

- True False

5. Which crop requires good drainage to grow well?

- A. Rice
- B. Indigo
- C. Cotton

6. What does Psalm 104:14 tell us about God's role in agriculture?

7. Farmers might choose specific crops based on the ___ of their land.

8. Rice grows best in dry, sandy soil.

- True False

9. What did God create to ensure diverse plant life?

- A. Only one type of plant
- B. Different environments and purposes
- C. Only crops for humans

10. How might farmers trust God's provision in their agricultural practices?

Answer Key

1. Rice 2. Geography affects what crops can grow. For example, rice needs wet areas and cotton needs warm climates. 3. blue 4. False 5. Cotton 6. It shows that God provides for both livestock and people by causing plants to grow for food. 7. soil 8. False 9. Different environments and purposes 10. Farmers can trust that God will help their crops grow and provide for their needs through the right conditions.